PROJECTS

Expiry Tracker | Kotlin, Android Studio

Feb 2024 – Mar 2024

- The Expiry Tracker App is designed to assist retailers in managing their inventory efficiently by tracking the expiration dates of perishable goods. This Android application utilizes Kotlin programming language and Android Studio for development. It offers features such as:
 - * Notification system: Sends timely reminders five days before the expiry date of a product.
 - * Dynamic pricing: Automatically reduces the price of products nearing expiration to encourage quick sales.
 - * Predictive analytics: Recommends optimal quantities for restocking by analyzing past sales data to minimize wastage and prevent shortages
- Implemented personalized notifications, price cut-offs based on quantity and time remaining, and sorting features.
